GREEN PIONEERS

Cork and bamboo flooring, blown-in isonene insulation, Energy Star appliances, compact fluorescent and LED lighting, low volatile organic compound paints and carpeting, reclaimed wood, framing materials certified by the Forest Stewardship Council and reconstituted recycled materials are some of the green things built into Architect Chip Webster's house off South Shore Road.

Although these building materials are not yet as dominant as white cedar shingles and cedar trim, their use and interest in them is gaining ground.

"We're getting more and more clients interested in it and integrating it into more and more of our projects," said Webster. "We're getting more and more questions about green. I find that a lot of people are extremely interested. We're also very excited to be working with the Habitat for Humanity, which will be green."

Several property owners are in the process of building LEED-certified structures and can now rely on firms such as Webster & Associates whose architects and designers are all LEED-accredited, and others, like Weld, for guidance in the green building world.

Leadership in Energy & Design, a rating system set by the U.S. Green Building Council, rates the energy efficiency and environmental friendliness of buildings with ascending rankings of silver, gold and platinum, based on how "green" a building is when complete. Small Friends of Nantucket, having finished the foundation of its new schoolhouse at 19 Nobabeer Farm Road, is shooting for the gold LEED rating.

Many Nantucketers' early commitment to building sensibly using sustainable, longer-lasting and energy efficient materials is setting a trend that many in the building trades believe will eventually evolve into the status quo.

"I think that it is going to continue growing, not only on Nantucket, but worldwide," said Webster. "There's no question in my mind that this is the way that everything will ultimately be done, so it will continue to grow until it reaches that point." ■

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

BRISTOL, ss

PROBATE COURT

To: Rita D. Aruda, City Clerk, City of New Bedford, Bristol County and Jon William York of parts unknown, legal father of Michael Patrick, Pimental, also known as Michael Patrick Pimentel of Acushnet in the County of Bristol, a minor.

A Complaint in Equity has been presented to said Court by Steven J. Pimentel of Acushnet in the County of Bristol alleging that he is the biological father of Michael Patrick Pimental, alias, who was born in New Bedford, Bristol County, on September 12, 2006. At the time of the minor's birth the Defendant-Mother was legally married to the Defendant, Jon William York, despite the fact that the parties last lived together in 1998. In 2006, the Defendant-Mother filed for divorce (Bristol County Docket #06D00335D1). The divorce became final on January 30, 2007. On February 28, 2007 the Plaintiff, Steven J. Pimentel married the defendant, Jennifer A Pimentel, alias. A DNA test performed in July of 2007 confirmed that the Plaintiff, Steven J. Pimentel, is the biological father of Michael Patrick Pimental, alias. Defendant, Jon William York is listed on the minor's birth certificate as the father.

WHEREFORE, the Plaintiff prays that this Honorable Court:

1. Adjudicate the Plaintiff, Steven J Pimentel to be the father of Michael Patrick Pimental, alias.
2. Order the City Clerk of the City of New Bedford to amend the birth certificate of the minor to add the name of Steven J. Pimentel, 115 Gammons Road, Achusnet, Bristol, MA 02743 as the father and delete the name of Jon William York, and to correct the last name of the minor to "Pimentel". The Plaintiff was born July 11, 1973 in New Bedford.
3. Any other relief this Honorable Court deems just and meet.

If you desire to object thereto, you or your attorney should file in said Court at 21 Fr. Devalles Blvd, Fall River a written appearance and answer or other legal pleading within 21 days after the 11th day of July, 2008, the return date of this citation.

Witness, Elizabeth O'Neill LaStaiti, Esquire, First Judge of Said Court this 17th day of April, 2008.
